50 KALÒ

50 Kalò's Ciro Salvo at work

Now with a successful global chain, third-generation pizzaiolo Ciro Salvo attributes his success to "extremely hydrated" dough (he adds water to low-protein flour) and a more researched approach to the sourcing of toppings. Either way, it's worked: the pies here cleverly shift away from the classic Neapolitan canon, centring on creative, seasonal ingredients from smallhold regional farms that are eminently worthy of your attention.
